

1. Temperatures tend to be warmer around the equator
2. There appears to be low to no variation in cloudiness and wind speed across latitudes
3. There appears to be higher humidity in the Northern (positive latitudes) rather than the Southern (negative latitudes) hemisphere.